

more F.A.Q.

Is there a dress code?

We ask you to dress modestly - probably the same 'rules' as for school.

For the final service, if you have a choir robe, please wear it, otherwise smart black and white.

Do I have to come to the whole program?

Yes. Part of being in a choir is learning to be a team player. If you're missing from rehearsal or performance, everyone loses out.

My parent(s) sing in a choir. Can they come too?

This camp is for children and young people, but if they want to be part of the 'Vivaldi' choir, ask them to contact Jon Blamire.

Will this be 'religious'?

Some of the music we sing is about God and what He has done for us, and we believe everything we do should honor God.

The final 'concert' will be in the form of a short, easy to follow service, which is mostly music. We will pray during the camp and we will talk about the Bible and our faith some, but we won't pressure anyone. All we ask is that you respect what we do, and if you have questions, come and tell us!

The Summer Sing

Choir Camp 2010

Georgetown

Bored of the beach?

Had it with the heat?

Need a challenge?

Join us for a special 'at home' choir camp this summer.

4 days of

Singing great music

Making friends

Improve your voice

Learning new things

Enjoying music

The MUSIC

We'll be singing a wide range of music. The main pieces will be Gloria (Vivaldi) and a selection from The Sound of Music (Rogers and Hammerstein).

In addition there will be some simpler songs for younger singers, and the opportunity for skilled singers to tackle solos and small group pieces.

For the Vivaldi, we will be joined by a small group of adults to boost the sound.

F.A.Q.

Do I have to belong to Prince George Church?

No. This camp is open to everybody, whether you go to church or not.

If you go to another church we want you to come to this camp, then go back to your church - we're not trying to 'steal' you!

I haven't sung in a choir before. Can I still come?

You are very welcome. As the days go by you'll get the hang of singing with others, learning to blend your voice and hold a part.

I can't read music

No problem. We'll help you learn the basics.

What about food?

Bring your own lunch on Wednesday - Friday. We'll supply drinks and snacks every day.

Won't four days singing get boring?

It might. That's why it isn't just singing! We've arranged swimming on the Thursday afternoon, and a talent show where you can show off your 'party pieces' (not just singing) on the Friday afternoon. We know you're on vacation so we want you to enjoy this.
